Advent Christian Church

As announced, the pastor spoke last Sunday from the subject, "Reasons for the Church's Need of an Advent Christian Church," etc. Nehemiah 1:1-20. It may be said that God dwells in heaven, also that He abides with His people in a spiritual sense in the life and in the sanctuary of worship. This local advent Christian Church is needed for reasons social, practical, spiritual and doctrinal.

At the close of the service one candidate united with the church in membership.

Because of lack of time on the part of the contestants who were preparing for the memorization contest, all of these being in school, it is decided to postpone the contest to a more favorable time, due notice of which will be given later.

L. W. meeting at six o'clock was led by Dr. Freer, in which there was an open discussion on ways and means of improvement for the society.

A very opportune subject was considered in the evening, when Mr. Pender used as his subject, "Comfort." Many are in trouble or affliction and need the assurance of consolation.

Thursday afternoon the ladies of the Mission Society will meet with Mrs. Ida Haskins on High street.

Next Sunday morning Mr. Pender will use an evangelistic subject.

Methodist Episcopal Church

The Epworth League service Sunday evening was led by Miss Mabel Newcity. The vestry was filled to overflowing and everybody enjoyed the meeting. A piano solo was rendered by Miss Beryl Cram and a violin solo by Philip King. The leader was assisted by a number of young people.

The Junior League service Sunday afternoon was led by Elizabeth Eaton. All of the members responded to the roll call with a verse of Scripture, beginning with the letter "A." Next Sunday the letter "B" will be used.

The intermediate department of the Sunday School held a social in the church parlors Monday evening.

The Delta Alpha Class held a social gathering in the church parlors last evening.

Prayer meeting will be held tomorrow evening as usual, followed by a meeting of the teacher-training class.

Next Sunday morning the pastor will take for his subject, "Honest Abe." A souvenir will be given to each person attending the service.

Three young people of this church were recently licensed as local preachers.

Universalist Church

Sunday morning service at 10:45. Preaching by the pastor. Sunday School at noon.

The Y. P. C. U. will meet Sunday evening at seven o'clock. Miss Powers' class will have charge of the service.

Choir class was entertained at the home of Mrs. C. M. Chapin last evening.

Choir will meet for rehearsal at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening at the church.

At the Sunday morning service Willard Sanders played a flute solo for the offertory, his selection being "Song to the Evening Star" (Sustenau).

Christian Science Society

The services of this society are held every Sunday forenoon at 10:45 in the hall over E. W. Gates' store.

The subject for next Sunday will be "Soul."

Sunday school will be held at 9:45 Sunday morning.

Congregational Church

The musical program last Sunday morning included a quartet, also an impressively rendered solo by Mrs. G. M. Powers.

There will be no mid-week service this week.

WOMEN'S CLUB NOTES

The regular meeting of the club seemed like a large family gathering on last Monday evening because the topics discussed were those of local interest. Miss Oella Thompson had arranged the program. In her absence Mrs. Howe very pleasantly conducted the exercises and added inspiring thoughts of her own occasionally.

The first paper on "The Early History of Morrisville" was well written by Miss Thompson and well read by Mrs. Chaffee. Miss Thompson had also composed the words of a song entitled "Vermont," which was finely rendered by Mrs. Powers, accompanied by Miss Ellis.

Another paper splendidly written and read by Mrs. Gile on "The First Churches and Schools, also Stories and Traditions of Morrisville" was intensely interesting. Both papers gave vivid pictures and descriptions of the early history of the town and the doings of the people in those days. Mrs. Howe then asked for visions and dreams of a Morrisville to be. Mrs. Gates told how the present town hall could be remodelled and made up-to-date. Mrs. Powers was not asleep, but she "dreamed" of a grand new town hall with all modern conveniences. It was a wonderfully clear perception for a dream, and very complete after the addition of a rest room as suggested by Miss Ellis. Then Mrs. Stewart spoke upon "A Clean Morrisville." Her vision surely left a cleanliness much to be desired. The last three things to be eliminated were profanity, tobacco and booze. It would be worth while to live a century or two if we could see Morrisville as it was visioned at this time. The last addition was a splendidly equipped playground as dreamed by Mrs. Vallean and a place for winter sports as suggested by Miss Wombell.

Experiences of "ye olden time" teachers were related by Miss Tinker, Mrs. Kramer and others.

The next regular meeting of the club will be at the library on February 20. This is the annual sunshine meeting and each member of the club is invited to bring a package suitable for the sick or shut-in, wrapped ready for packing and your name on the outside. Books, magazines, stationery, games, post cards, a bit of work with material for finishing and things for the sick were suggested as being very acceptable.

The ushers named for this meeting were Miss Downer, Miss Mower, Miss Bulkeley, Mrs. Vallean and Mrs. Waterman.

Get your calendar and mark these dates "lest you forget."

Our club is certainly alive when it plans to entertain the public four evenings in one month.

On Thursday evening, February 9, is the musical entertainment for the benefit of the club. This is your chance to boost.

Then on the evening of February 14 comes "The Versatile Artists," Georgia Price, harpist and violinist, who has one of the most beautiful and most expensive harps in the world, and Sigrid Eklof, soprano, reader and pianist, which two people form an "exquisite combination."

On Wednesday evening, March 1, the lecture by Dr. M. H. Lichliter will be given. This will complete the lecture course. Kindly be on hand and get the benefit of all these good things.

The Near East Relief is now making an appeal for the starving orphans of Armenia, and Lamoille County has organized, with the Rev. Mr. Pender of Morrisville as chairman. It is to be hoped that every town in the county will give generously to this worthy cause, and that each town will reach its quota. The quotas are the same as last year and in terms of so many orphans.

Is No National Holiday.

Christmas is not a national holiday. New Year's day is not a national holiday. Thanksgiving day is not a national holiday. The Fourth of July is not a national holiday. Neither is Memorial day. Neither is any other day.

There is no such day as a national holiday in the United States. A United States statute would be required to constitute a particular day as a national holiday, and congress has stopped short of this action, numerous constitutional lawyers insisting that such an act belongs to the powers of the several states and not to the general government.

The Fourth of July is not strictly a national holiday, though it is a nationwide holiday, having been made a holiday by acts of all the states and by the common consent and usage of the people.

Totally Obscured.

A certain callow Chicago swain had an amazingly large mouth which he contracted into an all-pervading smile when he wished to make a good impression. His sweetie had persuaded him to "ask father" and the youth was determined to show himself to good advantage.

"Mister Jones," he began, stretching his principal feature to the utmost of gentility. "I have come to ask for the hand of your daughter. I—"

"Just a moment, young man," interrupted the old gentleman mildly, "would you mind closing your mouth for a moment till I see who you are."—American Legion Weekly.

Silence Frequently Golden.

Talking is like playing on the harp; there is as much in laying the hands on the strings to stop their vibrations as in twanging them to bring out their music.—Holmes.

Farming in Iceland.

Iceland counts farming as one of her leading industries. She exports in sheep-raising and in dairying. Iceland exports about $270,000 worth of butter in a year.

Useful Oil.

Few industries have grown so rapidly as the manufacture of cottonseed oil. In 1867 there were only four cottonseed oil mills in the United States; in 1902 there were 618, and by 1920 the value of the oil and the by-products of it were estimated to be $125,000,000. Since then there has been a steady increase in the production.

The increased consumption of cottonseed oil is due largely to the great variety of uses found for it. It enters into the manufacture of lard compounds, butterine and other substitutes for butter; is used in packing and preserving fish, in making salad oils, and in the manufacture of so-called "olive oil." The crude oil is used in medicine, in the preparation of cosmetics, liniments and emulsions; as an illuminating oil in miners' lamps, for rough painting, and for tempering edged tools; and as soap stock, in which field of usefulness, after treatment with certain alkalis, it yields soap, washing powder and glycerin.

Jud Tunkins says he doesn't care so very much for the sunny smile that a man puts on, the same as he does a high hat, merely because it suits the occasion.

Full plowing done by the noses of the football players, while interesting to watch, is not of any really great agricultural value.

Another proof of a man's descent from the monkey is the way a woman's face works when she tries to pull down her veil with her chin.

The corn borer is valiantly striving to do as much for the corn growers as the boll weevil was reported to have done for the cotton producers.

Explorers can remember when islands in the Pacific now regarded as highly valuable could have been bought for a tune on the ukulele.

Business conditions in Germany appear to be surprisingly good or surprisingly bad, according to the viewpoint of the personage expressing an opinion.

One sign of a severe winter is that the birds and animals are said to be growing unusually heavy coats. This is also an indication of the superior resources of the so-called lower animals.

ASH IS NOT GENUINE TEST

Merely Shows That Cigar Is Well Made, Not That Its Quality Is of the Highest.

Can the quality of a cigar be told by the ash? To a certain extent it can. Many smokers take a great delight in seeing how long the ash will stay on. It is often possible to smoke a big Havana cigar half or three-quarters way through with the ash intact.

But what most cigar smokers fail to realize is that this is the test of a well-manufactured cigar and not necessarily of the tobacco in it. It depends upon the length and neat arrangement of the filling leaf. A well-made, compact cigar has greater consistency than a badly put together one. But it does not follow that the tobacco is better, a tobacco expert writes.

A surer test is when the ash is flicked off. The glowing point should be sharp. The sharper the point the better the cigar.

As regards the ash, it is a common fallacy that white ash is a sign of a fine, and dark ash the sign of an inferior, leaf. The real truth is that the color depends upon the strength of the tobacco.

A very mild and cheap cigar will give a pure white ash. The finest Havana of ripe strength produces a blackish ash. It does not follow that a cigar which burns imperfectly is bad tobacco. You may have lighted it badly or it may be clumsily made.—Brooklyn Eagle.

ELOQUENT TRIBUTE TO TREES

Writer Beautifully Expresses What Every Lover of Nature Must Have at Some Time Felt.

Trees are the arms of Mother Earth lifted up in worship of her makers; where they are, beauty dwells. Trees are the shelter of man, beast and bird; they furnish the roof above us, the shade about us, and the nesting places of love and song. They call children out to play; they entice sweethearts into leafy coverts to seal their vows with fond caresses; they console and gratefully reward old age. They are the fittest ornaments of wealth and the inalienable possession of the poor, who can enjoy them without having title to them. They are the masts that fly the flags of all nations and the sails of all seas; they are the timbers that bridge forbidding streams; they bear the wires of the world's intelligence; they hold the rails that carry the traffic of the continents; they are the carved and polished furnishings of the home; they cradle the young and coffin the dead. Trees herald the spring with glorious banners of leaf and bloom; they clothe the autumn in garments of gold and royal purple; bared to the winter's cold, they are the harp of the winds, and they whisper the music of the infinite spaces.—Clarence Ousley.
